Viewer 099 Session Report

Summary: The continuous idea (AOL drive) of "Central American country" was so strong that it overlayed virtually every perception of this site/event--very bothersome. The perception of the "thick, black, choking smoke (AOL-oil field fire) was really the only thing not affected by this distraction. The perception of the fire at the dock was associated with the idea (somehow) of "retaliation".

Now that the big AOL has been objectified somewhat, I should be in a better position to address the event, rather than get wrapped around the axle regarding place.
